Medical Philosophy.

What is a new medical philosophy?—
One that will not treat the
Disease, but the Cause of the Disease, and the Cause of the Cause.

Causes of Disease.

1. The Cause of the Cause.
2. The Cause of the Disease.
3. The Cause of the Effect.

THE IN-VALID.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

YSPEPSIA.

It is a complaint frequently met with, especially among the young, and is characterized by a feeling of fullness or oppression at the stomach, after meals; by flatulence, belching, eructations, and sometimes vomiting, and by a general debility and loss of appetite. It is caused by various factors, such as irregular eating habits, overeating, drinking cold water, or taking food too fast, or by a general weakness of the digestive system. The treatment consists in regular eating habits, moderation in eating and drinking, and the use of some mild laxative. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are highly recommended for this purpose.
